

naked rosé 2019

demeter

CHARACTER

With the comfort of the throbbing, smoky, warm-hearted voice and charisma of Hildegard Knef, the essence of the naked rosé is distant from the kitsch of its rosé sisters. Packed with fruit, brilliant and straightforward yet with lascivious curves, “not to be alone and yet to be free” should be the motto that allows this wine to rain red roses for you. Together with bright red berries, honest fruit and a persistent, dry aftertaste, the naked rosé celebrates the sheer beauty of shared conviviality that provides satisfaction in the great joy of the supposedly, small things.

ORIGIN

This Blaufränkisch grows in old vineyards on slopes of the Leitha Mountains in Winden and Breitenbrunn that face southeast toward Lake Neusiedl and are distinguished by the typical, regional fossil-rich limestone, calcareous sandstone and mica schist.

GENESIS

Bottled with conscientious handcraft and great care throughout the entire life cycle. Organic and biodynamic cultivation of the vineyards. Handpicked mid-September, partial whole bunch press ranging from immediate press to a few hours' maceration, spontaneous alcoholic and malolactic fermentation. Matured for five months in wooden fermentation vat and in amphorae on the natural yeast lees. Bottled unfiltered with minimal sulphur.
