

HEINRICH

St. Laurent 2013

CHARACTER

Fragile fruit meets filigree texture. In between and beneath are multiple layers that are successively revealed. St. Laurent is a wine of nuances; its strengths are in found details. It is adverse to intrusiveness and seeks attentiveness. Behind all the elegance are delicate smoky aromas, subtle floral and berry notes and a playful light heartedness that is paired with expressive depth.

ROOTS

The grapes for this wine stem from both sides of the Neusiedler See (Lake Neusiedl). On the one side from the Rosenberg vineyard, an east facing slope of the Leithaberg (Leitha Mountains) in Breitenbrunn that is intensely marked by mica-schist. On the other side, from vineyards on the gravelly Parndorfer Platte (Parndorfer Plain) and the humus-rich Heideboden on the east side of the Neusiedler See (Lake Neusiedl).

GENESIS

Bottled with conscientious handcraft and great care throughout the entire life cycle. Organic cultivation of the vineyards, manual harvest mid September 2013, spontaneous fermentation, maceration for three weeks in wooden fermentation vat and steel tank, gentle basket press, maturation for 13 months in used 500-litre oak barrels.
